Cattle are bringing extraordinary prices now. "Price 'em yourself and drive 'em in; we'll take 'em" is what our stock dealers tell the farmers.
Our citizens are almost unanimously acting on our advice in regard to setting out trees, and as a result the city is becoming handsomely decorated.
Parties having cattle to herd will do well to see S. G. Brittain, on Eaton farm, or Ben Dovel, Sheridan. Good range and plenty of water. 41w4
The rain Tuesday would have laid the dust nicely but for the fact that there was no dust to lay, the wind Monday having carried it all over into Otoe county.
R. P. Hutchins has decided to keep harness in connection with his agricultural store. Mr. Edwin Elliott has associated himself with the Col. in the business, and they can now rig a man out with a full team—excepting the horses.
—Reference given to Hon. John H. Gear, Ex-Gov., John Zaiser, Mayor, Burlington Daily Hawkeye, Daily Gazette, and Merchants' National Bank, of Burlington, Iowa. Frank Hatton, of Washington, D. C., and First National Bank of Chicago, as to reliability of the Centennial Mutual Life Association.
PEACH TREES FOR SALE.—Mr. S. A. Osborn proposes to supply all the people of Calvert with any number of peach trees—2 and 3 years old—they may want to plant on their lots in town. He will deliver them at a cost of only ten cents a tree, desiring only to cover expense of taking up and bringing to town. Leave order for number wanted, at printing office.

NEBRASKA ZEPHYRS.

Away they go,
Like flying snow,
Baskets, barrels and pails;
The dust doth fly
Right in my eye,
Before these gentle gales.
It slams the door,
Makes the woods roar,
And blows the grain away;
It tears signs down,
And sweeps the town,
And brings a rainy day.
'Tis nature's play,
On windy day,
To tackle each one out;
From maiden fair
'To the grey hair,
And turn them round about.
Sostay in doors,
And sweep the floors,
To keep the dirt outside;
And wait in peace
Until it cease
Before you take your ride.
And don't complain,
For it brings rain,
Which will increase your wealth;
If not so fair
It brings good air,
And so gives us good health.
D. J. WOOD.

Go to Geo. Riechers' for your dress goods.

Notice.

Harness Shop

PERU, NEBRASKA.
A. J. Williams, Proprietor.

He has saddles, bridles and halters to suit, and that they are all right no one will dispute.
He has good harness too, both single and double.
You can have what you want without any trouble.
He has collars and harness and whips and all such.
Of good harness oil he has ever so much. Indeed he keeps all that pertains to his line, in all of which goodness and quality combine.
He works good material and does his work strong.
And you need have no fear that there's anything wrong.
For this is a matter we would have understood.
All that's made in his shop is warranted good.
If your horses or mules are subject to fretting he can keep off the flies with a splendid fly net.
And if they are skittish and inclined to do wrong.
He has lines that will hold them and his bridles are strong.
If your harness needs mending you need not get scared.
But bring them to him and have them repaired.
He'll make or he'll mend as you may desire. And do it as well as where prices are higher.
If you want anything made or mended come here.
About prices and styles you have nothing to fear.
To do his work right he takes special care, and we are quite sure his prices are fair.
Now to farmers and horsemen we have this to say.
Williams gives the full worth of all that you pay.
At some other places you may do pretty well.
But you'll find at this shop they are bound to excel.
